Hello OSU parents,

My Family Resource Center colleagues and I have heard from many of you today regarding the shock experienced by KinderCare's announcement about closing the center, and about your deep concerns for continued child care. It came as a shock to us as well. Please know that we're working as quickly as possible to assess how we may provide full-time early care and education to our current families in the Beaver Beginnings center. And, how we may support the teachers who are trusted caregivers and guides to your children.

As a former single parent who worked full time, I lived the day in and day out basic need of child care. I can imagine that for some of you, every day that goes by without solutions to your child care needs only perpetuates uncertainty and stress. I hold this in my mind as I work with my team, and with our institutional leadership on a path forward.

As I shared last night, I'll be back in touch as soon as we have new information to share. For now, please continue visiting our website for the latest communications and updates.

~warm regards,
Amy
